THE POULTRY KEEPER Is so well established, having already 30,000 and the veryone of our subscribers may be sure of getting what we promise. In deed we could not afford otherwise with a paper that has already secured 30,000 subscribers on its merit. Undoubtedly some who read this new departure will think an offer to give away $40,000 in presents is most unreasonable and unprofitable, but the us say to all such person that allows and the more was well spent of the subscribers and the more was well spent of the subscribers and the more was well spent for its secured for him an established circulation that paid good interest on the investment. Publishing nowadays must either be done on an extensive scale or not at all. It costs justas much for matter, and just as much for fillustrations, electrotypes, editorial services, rent and for setting up the type for a paper of matter, and just as much for fillustrations, electrotypes, editorial services, rent and for setting up the type for a paper of matter, and just as much for fillustrations, electrotypes, editorial services, rent and for setting up the type for a paper of 100 circulation as it does for a paper with $40,000 in the set of a single paper alarmingly, but on very large editions, the expense is spread over so many papers that it is almost entirely lost; thus you can see that large profits can be

ENGLAND.—The new English law, which went into torce on Jan. 1st. enables parties to secure patents in Great Britain on very moderate terms. A British patent includes England, Scotland, Wales, Ireland, and the Channel Islands. Great Britain is the acknowledged financial and commercial center of the world, and her goods are sent to every quarter of the globe. A good invention is likely to realize as much for the patentee in England as his United States patent produces for him at here, and the small cost now renders it possible for almost every patentee in this country to secure a patent in Great Britain, where his rights are as well protected as in the United States.

OTHER COUNTRIES.—Patents are also obtained on very reasonable terms in France. Belgium, Germany Austria, Russia, Italy, Spain (the latter includes Cuba and all the other Spanish Colonies), Brazil, British Iudia, Australia, and the other British Colonies

An experience of THIRTY-MIGHT years has enabled the publishers of THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN to establish competent and trustworthy agencies in all the principal foreign countries, and it has always been their aim to have the business of their clients promptly and proper-
